

Popular Liberty Loan Has Been Liberally Oversubscribed. Clearfield Does Its Full Share By Loaning $821,000

CHEER UP!

Easy thing to get downhearted; easy to submerge in gloom. And to fancy that the nation is careering toward its doom; There was little cause for smiling in the days of Valley Forge, But the boys that nearly starved there were the boys that licked King George.

And remember, when you fancy things are black as they can be, There's another old George Dewey somewhere yonder on the sea. Keep you jaw set; don't be worried by the rumors that you hear, Don't start flinching with the notion that the end is hovering near. Uncle Sam has seen real trouble, he has had his trial by fire And come forth with aspirations that were holier and higher. Don't forget that in the trenches, when our banner there we plant, Will be found the dauntless spirit of another General Grant.

Let the pessimists and croakers wring their hands and tear their hair, Do your work and keep your courage while they voiced their bleak despair.

There has never been a crisis when this country of the free Didn't nobly rise to meet it; and there's never going to be! This is not a summer picnic that we've happened to get in, It's a war and it's a big one, but we know we're going to win!

2 Automobile Wrecks Near Here Yesterday

Little Daughter of Samuel Mellotte Painfully Hurt

An automobile smashup occurred on the State road opposite the Reed farmhouse just above Reedsville last evening at 6:10 o'clock which resulted in the death of a little child of Samuel Mellotte, who was quite painfully cut and bruised.

Mr. Mellotte was driving up the river in a Ford truck of the Penn Public Service company and was accompanied by his two little children. Near the Reed farmhouse the car was run into by a car driven by Fred Cameron who was also accompanied by William Kline. The Mellotte car was overturned and the occupants spilled out into the road. His little daughter was badly cut about the head and for a time it was feared she had been hurt internally but she was much improved this morning and it was found that her injuries are not serious, but it was a lucky escape for all concerned.

WRECK NEAR BARRETT

A Ford runabout driven by Lloyd Owens, who had Willard Barratt and Abe Jacobson as passengers, toppled over into the ditch along the State road this side of Barrett last night and Messrs Barratt and Jacobson received severe cuts about the hands from the broken windshield. The accident occurred when the lights on the flapper went out and they ran to the side of the road, getting too close to the ditch, when the boys scrambled around to get out to light up again they tilted the machine over into the ditch.

CLEARFIELD GIRL MARRIED

Miss Verna Hills eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hills of South Second street was united in marriage to Harry Briner last evening at seven o'clock in First church of Christ at Akron, Ohio.

Mrs. Briner is a popular school teacher having taught here for several years and has taught in Akron the past three years. Mr. Briner is employed by the Goodrich Rubber Co. They will reside in Akron, Ohio.

New Haven, Conn., June 14.—One million dollars has been appropriated by the supreme board of directors of the Knights of Columbus to care for the moral and physical well being of the young American soldiers. Announcement was made here today in an appeal issued to the membership.

NORTHCLIFFE AT WASHINGTON

Washington, June 15.—Lord Northcliffe reached here today and expects soon to call upon diplomatic and military authorities.

PRESIDENT HAS SIGNED THREE BILLION BILL

Money Now Available For Great Army And Shipping Work Already Contracted For

BIG CONTRACTS BEING SIGNED

Washington, June 15.—President Wilson today signed the gigantic three billion dollar war budget bill. Money is now immediately available for the great army and shipping work. Soldiers and sailors may not be paid for the time spent in training. Contracts made out to large concerns may now be signed.

Signing of the bill by the President started the greatest single series of contract signing in the world's history. For weeks contracts were made throughout the country for shoes, uniforms, lumber and all other equipment immediately needed by the government for its new army and the enlarged naval establishment awaiting for the momentous time when the President would pen his name to this measure. These contracts could not be signed until the President signed the bill.

HOSPITAL BRIDGE

Mrs. John Wrigley entertained three tables of bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on Front street for the benefit of the hospital. This was one of the series of bridges that are being given for the hospital. There was eleven dollars taken in. A donation having been given. Mrs. A. E. Patton of Curwensville, held high score.

PITTSBURG OVER-SUBSCRIBES

Pittsburg, June 15.—Subscriptions to the Liberty Loan will total $80,500,000 it was announced shortly after noon today. The allotment was $69,000,000.

AMNESTY FOR IRISH

London, June 15.—General amnesty for Irish prisoners was announced in the House of Commons by Chancellor of the Exchequer Bonar Law today. The prisoners chiefly considered are those taken in the Dublin riot and Sinn Fein riot of last year.

DENVER AHEAD

Denver, June 15.—Denver subscriptions to the Liberty Loan will exceed $12,500,000 it was announced. It is two and a half million over the allotment.

Washington, June 14.—Over subscription to the two billion loan is assured. Telegrams received here from Federal Reserve banks today show that millions have been subscribed over the two billion.

The over subscription, according to Robert W. Woolley, director of publicity for the loan "probably would reach millions of dollars." Telegrams which poured into the Liberty Loan bureau just before noon today were eloquent in their claims. These messages from New York, Richmond, Baltimore, and other federal reserve districts pictured glowing long lines of persons standing before bank windows in every big city of the country awaiting anxiously the chance to do their bit in driving the gold nail in autocracy's coffin.

Washington, June 15.—The average subscription officials told the United Press today amounted to $1,000. The largest average amount to a subscription in the warring countries in Europe was less than $900. Secretary McAdoo announced that no over subscriptions will be accepted in this loan.

Cowards Or Slackers Are Not Wanted Here

Judge Bell Has Old-Fashioned American Ideas As to Citizenship

Judge Singleton Bell has the old-fashioned Yankee idea that American citizenship is a thing to be prized and not one to be handed out in a hurry to every opportunity seeking alien who comes to this glorious country and after taking advantage of its liberties and opportunities without endeavoring to qualify himself for or take on the duties of citizenship, until such time as circumstances really force him to do it.

Judge Bell's position in this matter was made clear to a number of aliens in the court room this morning when about one hundred prospective citizens were applying for the second or final naturalization papers. Every application is being looked into and each applicant carefully examined by a representative of the department of commerce and labor at Washington and after he is through with that ordeal the would-be citizen is forced to go through a proper grilling at the hands of Judge Bell, and if his record and answers are satisfactory the coveted papers are awarded and if not the alien is bowled over into the discard.

The Court has no time for cowards or slackers of any description and when a French reservist, who had been living in this country more than twelve years, and did not make application for his first papers until 1914, after the war in Europe started, came up for his citizenship papers Judge Bell explained his position as above stated in no uncertain language, and ended by continuing the application six months for investigation, saying if this man only sought citizenship here to escape his responsibility to the land of his birth, we did not want him and time was needed to determine that fact.

Another healthy ruling Judge Bell made in this connection was when he informed the assemblage that if the registration card of any man between the ages of 21 and 31 showed the applicant had asked for exemption from war service in case he was drafted under the conscription act, he would be refused citizenship forthwith, that what this country wanted in its citizenship was men, not cowards or slackers.

During the morning session a number of such applicants were examined but in each case when the registration card was produced the applicant was found to be willing to assume the final duties and responsibilities of American citizenship and had answered "no" when asked by the registrar whether he claimed exemption from service in the army if called.

Philip Sarouy, William Weaver and Joseph Nachman, were a bunch of good fellows from Morrisdale who had business at the court house today. While here they dropped into The Progress office for a friendly chat. Come again.

GOVERNOR HANLY A CONVINCING SPEAKER

Exceptionally Large Audience Hears Message Of the Great Western Prohibitionist

REMARKS HEARTILY APPLAUDED

Hon. J. Frank Hanly, former Governor of Indiana and probably the foremost and most forceful advocate of the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic before the American people today, presented the myriad evils of the rum traffic to a large and enthusiastic audience of Clearfield people at the new High school auditorium last evening.

Governor Hanly is the real organizer of the famous Flying Squadron Foundation, which has taken such a large part in the fight to make this great American nation sober. Always a clean living, temperate man himself, Governor Hanly came in close personal contact with the real evils of the liquor traffic when as chief executive of the great middle-western commonwealth he visited the jails, reformatories, penitentiaries, insane asylums and other havens for wrecked and warped humanity in his state and endeavored to get firsthand from these hundreds of human derelicts the actual history of their lives and the reasons for their being in the condition he found them.

According to the burning eloquence of this modern crusader, in about 85 per cent. of the cases investigated the answer was the same: "Rum did it." At the end of his term of office he had become so filled up with the damning influences of the beverage liquor traffic, as he styles it, that he decided then and there to devote the balance of his life to combating the Demon Rum. How well he has succeeded is attested to by the glorious roster of twenty-six out of the forty-eight states of the union "bone dry."

The Flying Squadron Foundation, that force for good, the very mention of which causes old John Barleycorn to back up in the darkest corner of his vilest den and shake as with the palsy of his most besotted victims, is the creature of Governor Hanly's brain, and as an evidence of his breadth of vision and the wisdom of his building, it stands today as the greatest and most far-reaching force marshaled in opposition to the rum traffic and its nefarious supporters and defenders.

Governor Hanly is the 42 centimeter gun of the Flying Squadron and while he himself has traveled into every state in the Union and made his fight against rum every large city and hundreds of these malar towns in every state, his efforts are supplemented by the hundreds of other workers and speakers sent to the battle front wherever and whenever their services were needed by this inspired organization.

At last night's meeting Governor Hanly was introduced by President H. B. Powell of the County National bank, who prefaced his introductory speech with a brief recital of his personal experiences and investigation in the western dry country.

In opening his address Governor Hanly told of his experience with a friend of the rum traffic in Pittsburgh a few short months ago in which the Pittsburgh man asked him if his State of Indiana was "dry," and when the Governor replied that he was sorry, it was not, then the Pittsburgher told him he thought he would be entitled to more credit were he to go home and devote his energies to cleaning up his own state and get that done before coming into Pennsylvania to interfere with our "personal liberties." The Governor said he took that advice to heart, went back to Indiana and as the good old Hoosier state had voted dry last year he felt he had discharged the implied obligation and was entitled to come back to Pennsylvania, and here he was.

The Governor talked for more than one hour and thirty minutes and held the close and undivided attention of his hearers from his opening sentence clear through to the end. He paid a great deal of attention to the perilous situation in which the country is placed just now and emphasized the need for sober men to uphold the honor of our country and our flag. He also made a plea for the prohibition of the manufacture of intoxicating beverages as a means of food conservation.

He asked for the absolute divorcing of the nation from the rum business now and for all time and said he proposed to continue his fight for this to be desired condition as long as the good God gave him strength to do so. He complimented our forefathers on their foresight and wise judgment in drafting the Declaration of Independence and said that while they wrote into the document that all men were created free and equal they allowed a race to live under it in the bonds of slavery, and that for this sowing of the wind we reaped the whirlwind of the Civil war, also that by licensing the liquor traffic the government sowed a wind which is being reaped in the victims of the traffic who inhabit our jails, penitentiaries and mad houses. He also said that he had helped his government harvest the whirlwind of slavery during four years on the battle fields of the Civil war and he would continue in the fight against the liquor business until the harvest of thirty-six dry states made it possible for a constitutional majority of all the states and people to wipe it out of existence.

Governor Hanly is a forceful orator and the sharp-pointed shafts of his logic were equipped with the barbs of common sense reasoning which caused them to stick where they landed.

Following his address Governor Hanly made a plea for financial support for the Flying Squadron Foundation for the fight to be waged in New Mexico and the other states which vote on the liquor question in the near future. He spoke of the big corruption funds gathered by the liquor people and said that money from Pennsylvania brewers had fought and maligned him in every state in the union and asked for contributions for the dry cause at this time that the ten necessary states might be secured to make prohibition nation-wide and thus save Pennsylvania from the outside. A generous contribution was the result.

Following this Governor Hanly asked the audience to authorize him to send telegrams to President Wilson and Congress urging prohibition during the war and the audience gave him the authorization by a rising vote.

- Grade 5 and 6—Harry Dunlap, Carl Mann, Margaret Keith, Louise Sheeder, Margaret Shapiro.
- Grade 6—Edwin Howard, Samuel Sansone, Charles Meise, Herbert Hile, Stanley Rishel, Maxine DeHaas, Helen Bain, Lois Pooler, Marian Hile, Euphemia Hodgen.

that time Michael was obeying orders, drilling, campaigning, and doing the hundred-and-one things that fall to the lot of the American Marine.

Michael finished his time, retiring with the rank of "Sergeant Major, no less," and went back to that Irish spot in County Mayo.

Then came our participation in the war. Did Michael stay retired? No, he did not! He came right back on the S. S. St. Louis, paying his own fare, and went directly to the U. S. Marine Corps Headquarters to volunteer his services.

McNamara could have signed up with some Irish regiment for, despite his fifty-five years, he is still a "foine broth ar a boy." Instead, he braved the submarines to fight under the flag that for thirty years he had called his own.

Michael has a bit of the stuff of which loyal Americans and heroes are made.

Gang of Shoplifters Rounded Up After Robbing Several Stores

Double Vigilance on Part of Store Management Is Rewarded By Capture of Suspects

For some time Clearfield storekeepers have been afflicted with an epidemic of shop lifting and goods to the amount of hundreds of dollars have been taken from the different stores the past few months.

That the thieves were experienced in their work was evidenced by the fact that they were able to get away with so much and escape detection. On account of the increasing boldness of the shoplifters and the weekly increase in the amount of goods purloined the clerks were cautioned to be especially on the alert and a number of extra precautions were taken to locate the thieves.

By comparing notes the merchants were led to believe that much of this work was done in the early morning hours while the different counters and departments were being arranged for the days business and before many customers were about or all the clerks on duty. Accordingly the morning watch was doubled and Saturday last two women were detected stealing dress goods at Croyle's Economy store. They were followed after leaving the store and were charged with their crime and made to give up the purloined articles. They were East End residents.

The department stores of Leitzinger Bros. and A. W. Leonardson Co. appeared to be the favorite places of operation and yesterday morning two Curwensville women were seen to swipe some silk waists at Leitzinger's and were pursued and picked up on the street. They were taken before Squire Milligan by Chief McHenry and Constable Reilly and made to produce the stolen goods, after which they were allowed to go on the payment of a $10 fine and costs.

It was found that in addition to the three silk waists taken at Leitzinger's the women also had quite a collection of stuff which they had stolen at Leonardson's before going into Leitzinger's.

They operated on a pretty slick plan. They would come to Clearfield on the Pennsy morning train arriving there at 8:10 and would mingle with the real shoppers who came to town on that train and as they would arrive some times before all the clerks were on hand would have ample opportunity to ply their shoplifting while the clerks were waiting on their bona fide customers.

Both women arrested are foreigners and they made it a point this morning to go into the stores with two or three of their countrywomen who were here to do their shopping and made it appear they were all together. As a result of this practice three other women were detained as witnesses until the real culprits were located and confessed, after being found with the goods on them.

At Leitzinger Bros. store the women operated on the second floor. Miss Cadman, a clerk, while waiting on a customer, detecting one of them stuffing the waists under her coat. When the clerk started to notify Mr. Leitzinger the women hurriedly left the store, the two shoplifters separating when they got out on the street, the older woman beating it down to the New York Central station, where she placed her pilferings in a sack made of a blanket which she carried, while the younger woman stayed with the other women whom she was using as a foil for her illegal operations, although they were entirely innocent of any wrongdoing and had no knowledge that any was being attempted.

"Old Sleuth" Eddie "Burns" Leitzinger was on the job however. Eddie saw the other woman turning the corner into Third street and immediately "set sail" after her. The woman was handicapped by a basket and bundle and small child, but despite the handicap she led her pursuer a merry chase for about three blocks. Eddie's Plattsburg training was too much for the fleeing woman and she was finally overhauled. After complimenting the woman on her ability as a sprinter Eddie induced her to accompany him to the Squire's office. During the chase the woman's poor little kiddo lagged far behind and when the procession passed Zeke Hoover's store and Zeke sized up the crowd he thought at once that he was witnessing a kidnapping scene, but when he recognized the pursuer and realized that his penchant was for "babies" over 18, he sensed the difficulty and instead of interfering cheered Eddie on to victory. He also had the assistance of "Hawshaw" Oxley, of Leonardson & Co., in rounding up the other culprits.

It is appalling the amount of merchandise stolen from our stores in this way daily and an example will have to be made of some of these shoplifters before the practice can be curbed. It seems to us this would have been a good place to start in on.

Chas. Mapes has returned to Akron Ohio, after attending the wedding of his sister, Ruth.

LEMONS BRING OUT THE HIDDEN BEAUTY
Make this lotion for very little cost and just see for yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white, this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp get into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

Traveling Giants Who Cut Willys-Overland Costs

By Edward Mott Woolley

The batteries of heavy presses as seen by Mr. Woolley in his tour through the Willys-Overland factory

In Toledo the other day I made a trip on the Willys-Overland Sky Railroad, with Tim Montgomery at the controls. There was a heavy thunder-cloud in the sky just before we started, and big drops of rain clung to the cab window. I didn't fancy the prospect of a plunge through the air in the face of a hurly-burly telegrams mean something thoroughly definite, but here was an exception. My mission proved for a time quite intangible. It was an errand that did not crystallize readily; yet the idea back of it was big and compelling.

A Message To the Public

"The functions of the modern great factory have never been adequately interpreted," the Willys-Overland people said to me. "Every-day advertising is good so far as it goes, but it doesn't carry the message or touch the romance of big-quantity manufacturing. Surely in this vast plant, with its eighteen thousand men and its production of two hundred thousand automobiles a year, there is something worthy of translation into understandable terms. Here is a pass that will take you through all the shops. Go and study the problem at first hand."

So I went, without any instructions. It was up to me.

Here before me was a bewildering fact—this titanic plant; and the first question was:

"How does a mighty factory like this touch the lives of the American people? What does it do for us?"

Then, by analysis, the problem separated itself into groups, and at the top of one of these stood Tim Montgomery, engineer of the Twentieth Century Willys-Overland Limited. Tim was the concrete fact that got hold of me as a tangible expression of big-quantity production. He could transport an automobile to the waiting freight car in a fraction of the time the ten men formerly consumed.

In other words, Tim and his Sky Railroad helped to cut down the cost, and the price, of Willys-Overland cars.

Another Railway

Then, as I wandered about, I espied another railway—with its wide-spreading floor, on it, and overhead, each bringing automobile parts direct to the workmen. Here I saw again the uncanny methods of modern industry that cut manufacturing costs to the bone.

Out in the yards I stood beneath a magnetic crane, and, looking up, saw a young man. He had the beardless face of a boy, and his name, they said, was Javiski. Nobody around there knew of his existence to this day.

Seven-Leaguers Who Cut Costs

Today Bill Larney is older and slower than he was even in those days—but he has the strength of all those old-time truckers put together! He now eliminates costs, and you profit when you buy a Willys-Overland car.

Is this Willys-Overland factory there is indeed an all-embracing transportation system such as no small factory could possibly have. Its rolling stock comprises more than a hundred vehicles of various kinds—in the air, on the surface, and in tunnels. Every man who runs one of these transporting devices becomes, in fact, a seven-leaguer who cuts costs.

Tim Montgomery, Hank Jennings, Javiski and Bill Larney, along with their comrades, got hold of me, some how, in a curious way.

Indeed, they stand forth as living answers to the question: "How do we cut costs?"

The Willys-Overland Skyline Railroad which helps cut cost of shipment serious reflections, for Hank Jennings and his traveling crane come rather close to most of us.

Indeed, these colossal devices stand for the annihilation of time, which is the devouring factor in production.

Jennings Has Giant's Power

The long arms of Jennings' crane reached down and lifted tons of steel as deftly as you would pick up a golf ball. Through the magic of mechanics, Jennings has a giant's strength vested in him. As I sat there in his engine he moved his wrist and one of the steel tentacles of the crane swung around and dipped to the floor. Then it fastened itself to a massive steel die as heavy as two automobiles together.

With a twist of his hand Jennings raised this weight until it hung suspended under us, and then we were off along that ceiling railway to the far end of the shop.

For an hour I sat there, a self-invited guest of this man with a giant's power, and we rode to and fro under the smoky skylight, and in that hour he smiled and carried tons of freight without interrupting for a moment the noisy activity below him.

Jennings expressed again the meaning of big-quantity production, for in a little plant he would not be Jennings, the traveling giant, but simply Jennings the man. He would sweat and strive, with scores of other men to accomplish in a costly, clumsy way what Jennings the Giant does alone with ease and economy.

Scores of Conveyors

I wandered into the assembly room. As far as the eye could reach were scores of conveyors, underneath the floor, on it, and overhead, each bringing automobile parts direct to the workmen. Here I saw again the uncanny methods of modern industry that cut manufacturing costs to the bone.

Out in the yards I stood beneath a magnetic crane, and, looking up, saw a young man. He had the beardless face of a boy, and his name, they said, was Javiski. Nobody around there knew of his existence to this day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kephart and family motored to Clearfield Wednesday evening to attend commencement exercises of the class of '17.

"BETTER EVERY WAY," HE SAYS

Smelter in Mint Was too Busy Making Silver Dollars to Guard Health.

"I guess I was too busy making silver dollars for Uncle Sam to watch my health," said H. B. Thomas, of 2345 Nicholas street, Philadelphia, a smelter in the United States Mint, recently.

"I have been an athlete for a good many years, playing football, baseball and basketball," he continued, "and I thought I was as immune as a fellow could get from a breakdown."

"I didn't think much about my health. As a result I became nervous and all run-down."

"I grew tired at the least exertion and I realized I had lost some of my strength and buoyancy. I began to feel a kind of pulled myself through the day."

"I knew I needed a good tonic and builder, so when a friend told me about the way this Tanlac helped him, I decided to try it myself. I began using Tanlac and am now taking it."

"I feel better in every way. I sleep well and feel rested and ready for work in the morning. I cut out most of my food seems to thoroughly agree with me. That first kind of a feeling has disappeared, and I feel as good and as bright as a brand new silver dollar."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine is now sold here by Woodward & McPherson.

GRANGE LECTURE

Worthy State Lecturer Rev. H. G. Teagarden or some prominent speaker from the state department will lecture in Susquehanna Grange hall, Curwensville, next Saturday evening, June 16th on "How to Make Rural Life More Attractive and the Promise of Rural Life." NEW VIEW OF GENERAL PETAIN

Here is another view of General Petain, under whom, or with whom, General Pershing, commander of the American Army in France, will fight the Germans. General Petain, the hero of Verdun, is now leader of all the French armies, and is looked on as the military genius of France.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns leaves behind a certain amount of incalculable material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left over waste, toxins and poisonous-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside poisons. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject. Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF CHAUTAUQUA

By JOHN MASON WELLS.

The Chautauqua movement has a most interesting history. It began in 1874 at the beautiful spot in western New York which had given the movement its name. Chautauqua, with its lake of spring water and its beautiful grove, made an ideal birthplace for this movement. The first Chautauqua meeting was an out of doors Sunday school institute. Sunday school teachers and workers met here under the direction of Dr. John H. Vincent to study how to better do their work. They listened to lectures, met in conference, had Bible drills, with the one point of view—how to make better the Sunday school. Connected with their work were entertaining and recreative features.

The combination appealed to the people—the out of door setting and the blending of education and entertainment. Many desired to come to such an assembly who were not primarily interested in the Sunday school. Teachers in public and private schools desired to go to such a place for the change, for the contact with other teachers, for rest, but chiefly for inspiration and instruction that would help them in their work. The Chautauqua program was therefore broadened to include geology, botany, astronomy, literature and kindred subjects. In this broader plan the Chautauqua grew in popularity and influence.

Another need now presented itself. Chautauqua is located in New York state, and comparatively few people can go there for this help. Some way must be found of taking the Chautauqua to the people. This was done by gathering helpful literature into convenient literary form, and the Chautauqua reading course was inaugurated. These prescribed courses were eagerly taken, and many mothers have made their homes into universities. If we they can use a little time each day to familiarize themselves with facts that will help them. Credit is given for books read and people in all walks of life have availed themselves of this help. Leaflets can be secured from Chautauqua, N. Y., telling more in regard to these reading circles.

The printed page, however, lacks the charm and inspiration of the spoken word, and the entertainment feature is almost entirely left out. Soon a most wonderful way was found to remedy this difficulty. Chautauqua is not merely a lake and grove at which people can assemble for instruction, entertainment and inspiration. It is not merely this plus a course of reading. It is a movement, and a movement ought to be able to move. There resulted, therefore, this movable university, which will take up its temporary residence in more than 3,000 places this year. Canvas temples like these, where laughter mingles with serious thought and profound meditation unites with great joy, will be erected in every state in the Union.

Until 1912 the Chautauqua tents could be seen only in the western states. The man who started the movement in the east is the head of one of the departments in Swarthmore college. He has had valuable experience in Chautauqua work in the west and is a young man of vision and energy—Paul M. Pearson. Three cardinal principles have been faithfully followed by him. First, this Chautauqua as such must be entirely divorced of commercialism. It is a "no profit" movement. It must pay its way, but it is not run for money. It remains true to the high Chautauqua ideals. If this year it should more than pay expenses the surplus will be used to enrich and improve the program for next year. This makes possible a program each year superior to that of the previous year.

The second principle is that each year's program must not be a mere collection of talent. It must have unity and a definite aim. It has a message. It aims to do something for each community. That it has accomplished this aim can be shown by pointing to the civic and educational progress in many towns where it has come for the past few years.

One of the things that have had the Chautauqua ever since the Pennsylvania association was organized is Kenneth Square, Pa. This borough has a population of about 2,500 people. During this same period it has had an important civic, social and educational development.

In the first place, the churches have been drawn more and more closely together, co-operating in many important matters and basing to a large degree the section, better-than-thou spirit. This is illustrated by the community meetings, which are held every Sunday night, except a few weeks in the summer, in the firemen's auditorium. These meetings have been a distinct success. When they were begun in 1913 there were two churches holding evening meetings, and the average audience of both together numbered less than 100. The audience of these community meetings have rarely been less than 500, and they have reached as high as 700. People that never went to church have come to these meetings, and out of speakers have been selected who would have been unwilling to speak to the audience that could have been gathered into one of the churches. The good that has come from these meetings to individuals and to the community as a whole can never be fully known.

Mrs. Ethel Wood Linney, of Prescott, Ariz., has passed the examination for admission to the bar with one of the highest averages ever made by an applicant in her state.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 15, 1917

There is no good reason for the necessity of men like J. Frank Hanly, a former governor of the great state of Indiana, giving his entire time to the preaching of facts about the liquor traffic. All he contends is admitted. All he preaches is simply a repetition of what we know to be true. Men of affairs know the whole system to be wrong but they have become so much a part of it that they are not morally strong enough to revolt and experience a new order of things. The liquor traffic is tolerated only because of men's cowardice in throwing off the shackles of practice.

If the United States Government can pass a law requiring every man between twenty-one and thirty-one years of age to register and place himself in line for cannon fodder and get a response that can be called unanimous, then how in the name of common sense can any intelligent man argue that a prohibition law will not prohibit? The very fact that he argues that way is, in the first place, evidence of his own weak regard for the law and, in the second place, an acknowledgement that the strength of liquor is greater than the law. Any patriot will know which to support.

It is doubtful if any ruler ever had such united support in the early days of a war as President Wilson has at this moment. Not two weeks ago, ten million men of all parties and all classes registered for military services in compliance with his wish and desire. Took the step without a murmur or a grumble. Today we see another instance of solidity of nation and steadfastness of purpose. The American people have loaned their government two millions of dollars. Both as to men and money the American people have said "Go to it Woodrow, old top, we're with you to the last trench." The American people would have done the same thing two years ago and probably had it over with by this time. Our President was a little slow in action. There is nothing now to hold him back.

UPPERCUT NO. 2

On the fifth of this month the United States handed Germany a silent warning in the form of ten million men of military age. Like Ivory Soap, long advertised as 99 and 44-100 pure, Americans proved themselves at least 99 and 44-100 patriotic by peacefully obeying the mandates of the law on June 5th last. It was the first uppercut handed Germany by the United States. As though that were not enough she comes back today with a big successful termination of the Liberty Loan and the huge sum of two billions of dollars of our wealth is now available for purposes of warfare against Germany. Upper cut No. 2. But we are going to do more. General Pershing has landed in France and is completing arrangements for the bed and board of thousands of khaki clad American youths who can shoot straight, think clear and live clean. Our wealth of men is almost inexhaustible. We not only loan our money, we give our men and now, best of all, we are going to take care of those men after they land in France. How? Why, by supporting the American Red Cross Society. Our strongest point will be in properly looking after personal comforts. Red Cross Week starts next Monday and lasts one week.

Stop Waste---Save

Thrift is an essential part of every patriot's duty.

Europe after two years of agony learned to abstain from luxuries to economize in comforts, to be frugal of necessities.

Let us profit by that example.

Preparedness by means of economy and saving is the vital and moral duty of every right-thinking American NOW.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

ABOUT THREE BROTHERS

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales]

DADDY and the children sat down on the sofa to begin the bedtime story with: "Two king's sons once upon a time went out into the world to seek their fortunes. They soon fell into wasteful ways of living and could not return home again."

"Then their younger brother, a tiny little dwarf, went out into the world to try to find his two brothers and bring them home. But when he found them they only laughed at him. It amused them greatly to think that such a little fellow should go out into the world where they who were so much stronger had failed to get on."

"However, they all set out together and soon they came to an ant hill. The two older brothers wanted to pull it down in order to see the poor ants scurry around and carry off their eggs to safety. But the dwarf said: 'Let the poor things enjoy themselves. I will not have you bother them.'

"So on the three boys went and at last they came to a lake where many ducks were swimming about. The two brothers wanted to catch two ducks and roast them for their dinner. But the dwarf said: 'Let the poor things enjoy themselves. You shall not kill them.'

Then Evelyn clapped. "Next they came to a bees' nest in the hollow of an old tree. There was so much honey that it ran down the tree trunk. The two bigger boys wanted to build a fire under the tree and kill the bees so that they could get the honey."

"But the dwarf said: 'Let the pretty things enjoy life. I cannot let you burn them.'

"At length the three brothers came to a castle and as they passed by the stables they saw some fine horses standing there. But the strange thing about them was that they were marble, and no man was seen around the stable."

"The three boys went through all the rooms till they came to a door which had three locks on it. But in the middle of the door was a wicket so that they could look into the next room. There they saw a little old gray man sitting on a table. They called to him, but he did not hear. At last he heard and arose to come to them. Not a word did he say. But he let the boys in and led them to a table where all sorts of good things were laid out. And when they had eaten and drunk the little old man showed each of the boys a bedchamber where they could rest," daddy ended.

"Did they sleep?" asked Jack. "Yes, indeed," answered daddy. "Then the children ran off to sleep."

Letters to the Editor

Editor's note—The following communication will no doubt be entirely and satisfactorily explained in an early issue. We invite the school authorities to answer the several queries. We may venture to suggest that there are small expenses in the way of programs, music and speaker's expenses to be met.

We are justly proud of our new high school building. We are proud of the quality and quantity of our graduating class. We do not begrudge one cent of the money we pay yearly in taxation toward the betterment of facilities for the education of our boys and girls. But we do have an interrogation to put up to the superintendent of our schools.

Why, after the citizens of the town have freely given to provide the efficient building, why should they be required to pay an admission to see the graduation exercises. When we held our exercises in the Opera House we saw the necessity of the fee and paid it gladly. We fail to see the necessity now. If it was to restrict the crowd, the empty seats Wednesday evening told the result. Many a citizen remained away from the exercises because he resented the principle of paying an admission. If the motive be to bar children then why not have tickets printed for free distribution? Why the form of sending an invitation which is not an invitation? What becomes of the money thus secured? These are the questions the citizens are asking. In the course of our travels we have seen the management of many public schools but we have yet to find the place where the townspeople must pay to see their pupils graduate.

A Citizen and Taxpayer.

MORE HOBOS WANTED

Constable Reilly and Officer Eadie rounded up a pair of hobos in the First ward Tuesday afternoon and haled them before "Judge" Milligan, who very promptly soaked them with a 30 day jail sentence.

As per the terms of Judge Bell's recent vagrant order the hobos will be marshaled into Constable Barger's squad and made to work out their sentence on the streets of the borough.

"GOLDINE"

The Marvel Herb Medicine Now Being Used By Millions Of People In The United States

It is Conservatively Estimated That Over Five Million People In This Country Alone are Taking Goldine

This vast army of people says Goldine gives the weak and run down that great vim, energy and endurance so entirely by the weakening. Its widespread use should bring about the most startling results everywhere. The pale, anemic, nervous people now seen at every turn shuffling listlessly along the streets should become sturdy, alert men and women of snappy stride, brimming over with vim and vitality.

If people would only take Goldine Nerve Tonic when they feel weak or rundown, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages, I am convinced that in this way they could ward off disease preventing it becoming organic in thousands of cases and thereby the lives of thousands might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, kidney, liver, heart, trouble and other dangerous maladies. The Goldine remedies are now being demonstrated at Stewart's Drug Store.

Stop in and have a chat with the Goldine man. It won't cost you any-

AMERICAN MEDICAL CORPS STIRS GREAT BRITAIN

Captain A. D. Tuttle

The appearance in Great Britain of the American Medical unit, of which Dr. George W. Crile, the great Cleveland surgeon and author, and Captain A. D. Tuttle, were the leaders, has stirred Great Britain. Their arrival at Blackpool caused the population to turn out for a holiday. Dr. Crile, who had already seen a year or more of service with the French, is known in Great Britain as well as in the United States. After his return from the front he published, "Man—An Adaptive Mechanism," which has been declared the greatest work of science ever written by an American. Captain Tuttle is a regular army man who will act as adjutant for the corps.

TODAY'S WAR RECIPE

From Britain's Official War-Time War Cook-Book
* Manchester Pudding (for four people)—One tencupful of maize meal, two eggs, one dessertspoonful of margarine, two breakfastcupfuls of milk, sugar or syrup to taste, jam or marmalade.
* Bring the milk to the boil, sprinkle in the meal very gradually, stirring all the time, and cook over the fire until the mixture thickens. Let it simmer for about half an hour. Beat the yolks and white of the eggs separately.
* Take the cooked maize meal from the fire, then stir in the fat, the yolks of eggs, and enough sugar to sweeten slightly, put in a moderate oven, in a greased pie-dish and bake for fifteen to twenty minutes. Spread the jam over the top of the pudding, and cover with stiffly whipped white of egg.
* Replace in the oven until the egg is slightly tinged with brown.

Have You Any Conception of The Size of Our Conscription Army

Several Comparisons Made By Which Immensity Of Organizations Is Pictured

Washington, D. C., June 15.—(Elli.)—The probable size of the United States army that will be raised for the present war ranges from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 men. By splitting the difference between these two estimates the sum of 1,500,000 men may be used as a basis for calculation. Now what does an army of 1,500,000 men really mean?

Such an army would embrace nearly five times as many American soldiers as were needed to win the war of independence. It would equal nearly three times the total number of United States troops engaged in the War of 1812 and would exceed by nearly 1,250,000 the number of United States soldiers who took part in the war with Spain.

What extent of ground would such an army cover? Just 1050 miles. This is 150 miles, roughly, greater than the distance between New York and Chicago. Marching by fours, in the regular military alignment, this vast army, with horses and mules, cannon and escort wagons, pontoons and hospital trains, would stretch nearly a third of the way across the United States.

If they kept passing day and night, marching all 24 hours, they would take seventeen and one-half days to pass any one point. The regular military march for seasoned troops is fifteen miles a day.

It would take this army of 1,500,000 men just seventy days to deploy—that is, to maneuver into line, or for the rear troops to reach the front.

Figured according to army tables, such a body of troops would require 511,500 animals and 61,250 vehicles, including guns. If they made one great camp it would cover 23,347 acres, or thirty-eight square miles.

To maintain this army would require several million dollars a day. In less than a week the pay of the troops would buy the Woolworth building, one of the costliest structures in the world.

At $6 a head it would cost $9,000,000 just to give each man a service uniform. Shoes would cost an additional $6,000,000 or $7,000,000, to say nothing of blankets, overcoat, hat, rifle or any other of the multifarious equipment of the soldier of today.

These soldiers would eat 6,750,000 pounds of food a day. Their animals would consume almost as much fodder—6,138,000 pounds of hay and grain. It would require 25,000 railway cars to transport the 1,500,000 men, or, if it were one gigantic unit, it would be seventy miles long.

An army wagon can carry 2750 pounds. Now, an army lugs along at least ten days' rations—which means 46,430 wagon loads.

The army would require 315,000,000 cartridges a day, weighing 26,250,000 pounds—three times heavier than the vast dome of the Capitol in Washington.

It is estimated in the present war that Germany, France and Russia each has kept upwards of 5,000,000 men under arms, with the forces of England, France and Russia each has kept upwards of 5,000,000 men under arms, with the forces of England, Italy and Austria-Hungary ranging between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 each. These figures, totaling many times the 1,500,000 used as a basis for calculations, afford an idea of the stupendous scale on which the great war is conducted.

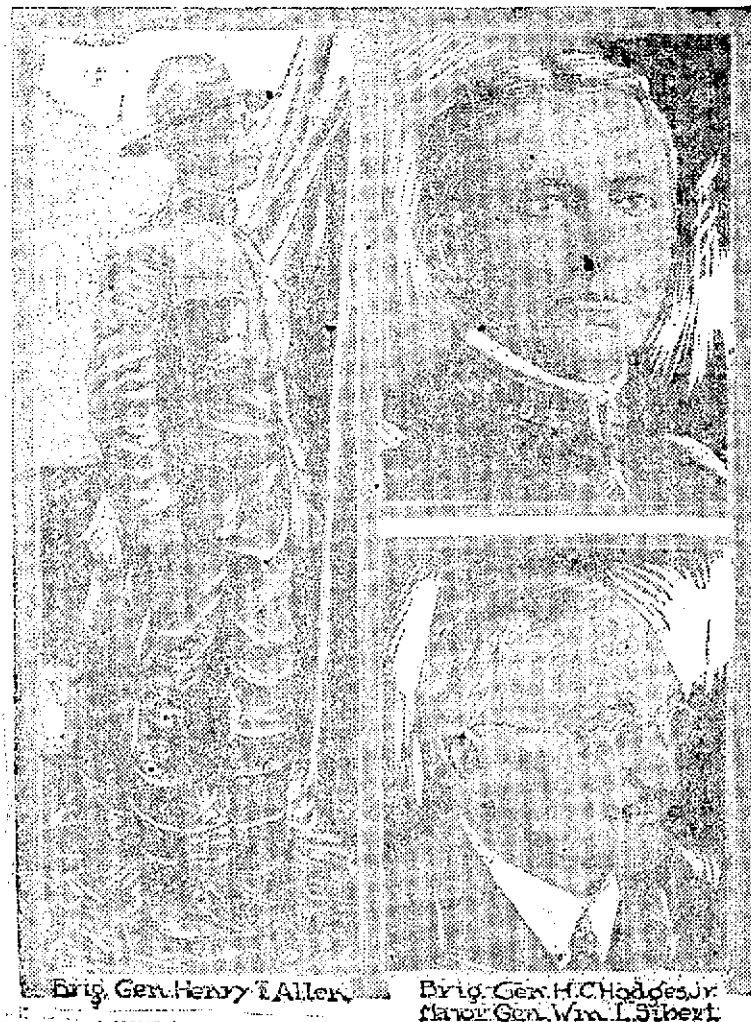

BIDS WANTED

Sealed proposals will be received until Monday, June 25, 1917, by the undersigned for the erection of a public school building at Maple Run, Knox township. Plans and specifications may be had by addressing James Gray, Carnwath, Pa.

HOME GROWN.

"I've been thinking this over for a long time," said Peter MacQueen in a recent lecture, according to the Bridgeport (Conn.) "Telegraph." "Why don't we exchange the Philippines for Ireland? Then we could raise our own potatoes at home!"

Making Generals To Lead Pershing's Men

Brig. Gen. Henry T. Allen

Brig. Gen. H. C. Hodges, Jr.
Major Gen. Wm. L. Sibert

When President Wilson sent to the Senate the nominations of two colonels to be brigadier generals and one brigadier to be a major general it was learned that they were to command the divisions of the United States army to go to France under General Pershing. Colonel Henry T. Allen and Colonel Henry C. Hodges, Jr., were named to be brigadiers. General William Sibert was nominated for major general. They will, it is believed, have immediate charge of the troops which will go first to the trenches in France.

CIRCUS PITCHES TENTS IN CLEF. TOMORROW

John Robinson Shows Well and Favorably Known To Clearfield People For Years

NO SLEEP FOR KIDS TONIGHT

John Robinson's Circus will exhibit in Clearfield tomorrow. The circus is scheduled to arrive about 3 a. m. via the New York Central railroad. Second street crossing will be used as an unloading point. The big tents of the circus will be erected on the Weaver grounds near the Electric Light Plant. Parade Route—The parade will leave the grounds at 11 a. m. and will traverse the following streets: Fourth to Market to Third to Real to Second to Market—Market to show grounds. John Robinson's circus is billed to pitch its city of tents in Clearfield tomorrow, giving performances afternoon and night.

No one should miss the opportunity of seeing this famous show if possible to do so. The name of John Robinson has stood the test of time for nearly a century and is conceded both in this country and in Europe.

The show this year travels on four special trains and the street parade, which is given in four distinct sections, is declared to be a revelation in processional grandeur, over a mile in length.

The performances in the "big top" comprise the world's best male and female riders, great herds of performing elephants, troupes of acrobats, aerialists, athletes, twenty different species of trained animals, troupes of Japanese and Arabians, Cossack horsemen, the largest collection of rare wild animals ever exhibited, a field museum of curios, prodigious pageants and tournaments, Egyptian pastimes, and a quarter of a mile racetrack, on which is presented speed contests and feats of endurance.

There will be all kinds of music, including a military band of fifty pieces, South American Marimba musicians, the original Dixie "Jas. Band," Scottish and Oriental reed players, and a Viennese orchestra are among the novel features that distinguish John Robinson's Ten Big shows from the ordinary.

YEARLY HEALTH HINT

From toe to crown
The buzzing fly
Is loaded down
With bacilli.
He creeps and squirms
The garbage through
And with foul germs
He covers you.
And you fall ill
And some fine day
The doctor's bill
You duck or pay.
In these here clinics
The scoundrel fly
A million times
Will multiply.
But if you swat
Each fly you see
He soon has got
To cease to be.
So hunt him through
Your lowly cot.
Pursue! Pursue!
And swat and swat!
And bye and bye
The summer breeze
Will bring no fly
To spread disease.

Sizes 2½ to 8½ 33c
Sizes 9 to 2 98c

DAINTY WAISTS FOR WOMEN

Such Pretty Waists, Too, and Where is The Woman who Ever has Enough? You Can Come Nearer Than Ever if You Will Come Here and See How Many Pretty Ones You Can Get for a Very Little Outlay

They are made of excellent materials and some are fussy; some are plain but they each and every one are a great value for the money. Made of crepe lawn, voiles and many other desirable fabrics. There's one in particular that's an excellent value at the value price but we have marked it at 79c

MEN, MEN, WHAT A SAVING IN YOUR SUITS HERE FOR THE NEXT TWO DAYS

We've Cut Prices to The Quick and You'll Appreciate the Savings When you See the Suits. We've Also Cut the Prices on Some of the Other Things you Need
The backward spring and summer has left us with too many men's and boys' suits and we're going to get rid of them—we have figured that we might as well take the loss now and allow you to enjoy the wearing of them while the season is yet young.

$12.50 MEN'S SUITS $9.00

These are a great value at the original price but, doubly so at the new marking. Come in gray, blue and brown with all the latest tailoring innovations in the way of design and they will give honest wear.

$18.00 Men's Serge Suits $14.00

Right here's a saving of $4.00. And again—they're the very latest thing in the line—pinch backs, some plain—flap pockets, roll bottoms, belt loops and the like. Come in blue and brown and we'll positively guarantee them to be an all-wool serge.

A Suit for That Ramping Boy $4.50

Built so that they will stand all the hard wear that the boy that is "hard" on his clothes. They are of all-wool in several materials. Come in sizes from 5 to 12 years.

MEN'S TROUSERS FOR EVERY OCCASION

These trousers are just a little better than the priceings would indicate but better values for the money we've never seen. The range of materials is wide and included are some khaki and blue and black serges. They are priced at from 98c to $1.98

WORK AND DRESS SHIRTS THAT ARE GREAT FOR THE MONEY

Come in full patterned makes with ample shoulder room and plenty of arm. There's plenty of either kind and there's one for you. Included are chambrays, khakis and other materials. They are priced exceedingly low at 48c

MEN'S WORK AND DRESS SHOES AT $2.48

With new shipments and what we had in stock you will be sure to find just what you want. Every one is a good value.

SOME FOOTWEAR FOR BOYS

Either dressy shoes or those for hard wear are here in plenty and that boy's shoe problem will be solved quickly and easily from our stock. There's two in particular that are wonderful values. They are priced at $1.95 and $2.48

NEED A HAT OR CAP?

Even though you don't need one just now it will pay you to get under one of these. The reason we are cutting the price so deep is up to the weather man. He is to blame for the kind of weather that is not conducive to summer hat and cap selling.

We have grouped them all together—these straw, cloth and felt hats—and there's many a nifty hat among them. They are going out quickly at 98c to $1.48

The caps are about the best thing in the store. There's a wide assortment including shepard plaids, plain blues and blacks, silks, pinch and plain backs. They are positively a $1 cap but are being sold during the two days at 44c and 79c

CHILDREN'S GINGHAM TUB DRESSES

Made of the best quality of gingham and piped in a contrasting color these make admirable school dresses for warmer days. They solve the dress problem for the mother who is at her wits end to have her little girl look nice at a small expenditure.
Sizes 2 to 6 years, a $1 value for 69c
Sizes 8 to 14 years a $2 value for $1.25

SUNDAY SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 10 A LIVE ONE

Held Twenty-First Annual Convention June 8th, And Heard Encouraging Reports

N. E. SHIMMEL NEW PRESIDENT

Osceola Mills, June 15.—The 21st annual session of the 10th District Sunday school convention held at the Ohio, U. B. church on Friday was largely attended notwithstanding the threatening weather.

The morning session opened with a devotional service conducted by Rev. H. K. Bower, of Phillipsburg. Rev. F. E. Hartman of Wallaceton, in a happy manner welcomed the visitors and N. E. Shimmel of Blueball responded.

The following committees were appointed. On nominations, John W. Wilson, Rev. I. W. Groh, and Rev. H. K. Bower. On resolutions, Rev. F. E. Hartman, Rev. S. T. Lewis and W. H. Goss.

Rev. M. M. Snyder of Mahaffey the county field worker addressed the convention urging greater efficiency in all departments. Miss Letitia Woodside of Wallaceton presented a very well prepared paper on "The Preparation of the Lesson."

The afternoon session was opened with a prayer and praise service conducted by Rev. S. T. Lewis, of Osceola.

"How to promote Temperance Discussion in the Sunday School" was the subject presented by Rev. I. W. Groh of Woodland.

Rev. F. G. Hartman emphasized the importance of "True Evangelism in the Sunday school."

Rev. M. M. Snyder addressed the convention on "True Evangelism in the Sunday school."

"Loyalty in the Sunday School" stirred the large audience to a sense of their duty at the present time and was ably presented by Rev. S. T. Lewis. Master Albert Shimmel of Blueball delivered a recitation entitled "Your Flag and My Flag" which was received with applause.

"The Responsibility of the Parent to the Sunday school" was the subject of an able address by Rev. H. K. Bower of Phillipsburg.

The nominating committee recommended that the officers of the preceding year be reelected. They are as follows:

President, N. E. Shimmel, Blue Ball.

Vice President, Hugh J. Kline, Blue Ball.

Secretary, Harry W. Brown, Osceola Mills.

Treasurer, Eli A. Hall, Osceola Mills.

Supt. Elementary Dept., Mrs. S. W. McLaren, Osceola Mills.

Supt. Home Dept., Mrs. William Guthrie, Wallaceton.

Supt. Teacher Training, Miss Letitia Woodside, Wallaceton.

Supt. Missionary Dept., Miss Florence Maurer, West Decatur.

Supt. O. A. B. classes, S. W. McLaren, Osceola Mills.

Supt. Teen Age Classes, W. H. Goss, Osceola Mills.

Supt. Rural dept., Prof. J. E. Radbach, Osceola Mills.

Rev. Gordon A. Williams, of Osceola, conducted a "Round Table Discussion" which proved very helpful. Many good points were brought out.

The officers of the district were authorized to send to President Wilson and our members of congress a resolution urging them to grant us National prohibition of the manufacture, sale, importation and exportation of all intoxicating liquors as a war measure.

W. H. Goss, of Osceola, conducted the prayer and praise service at the evening session.

Rev. Gordon A. Williams addressed the convention on the "Teen Age Problem." He urged his hearers to keep the standard up.

Rev. M. M. Snyder the field worker then delivered the closing address of the convention taking as his subject "More Fruit." It contained many helpful suggestions.

The committee on resolutions presented their report which was adopted.

The secretary reported a gain in membership in the district of 24. The contributions from the schools is $41.65, from the offerings at the convention $11.66, making a total of $53.31.

Invitations for the 1918 convention were received from Center M. E. and Pleasant Hill Baptist schools. The last named was selected as the place for the next convention. June 14th 1918.

With the singing of the Doxology and the benediction by Rev. M. M. Snyder closed one of the most successful conventions held in this district.

OF THE
KNIGHT SLEEVE-VALVE MOTOR

To the Women of Clearfield:

You particularly are invited to attend this Motion Picture demonstration of Automobile Motor Construction. Every woman and every girl in Clearfield is interested in motor cars—you are as much interested as are the men—you know that the mechanism of the modern automobile is simple. But do you know why it is simple? Are you familiar with what goes on underneath the hood when you throw in the clutch and press your foot on the starting pedal?

These pictures will make all these facts clear to you. Secure your admission card on request.

Just Enough Heat No More--No Less

This Brings Its Message of Comfort Along With An Appeal of Economy

With one of these oil ranges there's no three or four hundred pounds of heat-charged metal throwing out its waves of heat. Just a little flame, confined by the type of burner, to a small space; plenty without an surplus.

KEROGAS OIL RANGES

The burner transforms common kerosene oil into a high heating vapor. This sounds the note of economy as these same burners burn four hundred gallons of air to one gallon of oil.

There's no danger from explosions—the method of conducting the oil from the tank to the burners does away with any and all chance for that.

Interested? Come in and let us demonstrate how much easier your summer cooking, especially the hot work of canning, can be done on one of these new ranges.

WILLIAM F. POWELL

ON THE SCREEN

MARGUERITE CLARK BEWITCHING AS "THE PRETTY SISTER OF JOSE"

Special at the Globe Theatre Today
The winsome little star of the Famous Players Film company, Marguerite Clark, who within a phenomenally short time has sprung into international fame as a film favorite, is a revelation in her latest screen appearance in the Famous Players five part production of Frances Hodgson Burnett's picturesque romance of old Spain, "The Pretty Sister of Jose" which is now the chief attraction on the Paramount program at the Globe.

In this superb production Miss Clark triumphs as she has never triumphed on the screen before. This fact is true not only because her role provides her with many emotional opportunities, but because of her display of force and temperament in its portrayal. In addition to the moments of stress throughout the drama which she enacts so effectively we see her early charm, her delightful little girlish mannerisms, those exquisite little bits of comedy which she presents so inimitably, combined with a gentle pathos all developed artistically and with composite charm.

"THE PRICE OF SILENCE"

Coming to the Tent on Saturday is the Bluebird feature, "The Price of Silence" is Dorothy Phillips, one of the most beautiful and talented of screen stars. Three years in the Savage productions, "Mary Jane's Pa" and "Everywoman" followed, and she created the title role in the New York production "Pilate's Daughter." For one season she played opposite Francis X. Bushman at the Elsanay Company, and two years ago became a member of the Universal company.

In "The Price of Silence" this talented actress has the best role she ever played—a part most exacting in high emotional world, while calling, as well, for adaptability in comedy and lighter shading of screen artistry. The production was made from W. Carey Wonderly's magazine story, of the same title, by Ida May Park, Frank Whitson, Lon Chaney, Jack Mulhall, Jay Belasco, Vola Smith and Evelyn Selbie will be principals in the supporting organization.

CHEER UP!

Easy thing to get downhearted; easy to submerge in gloom. And to fancy that the nation is careering toward its doom; There was little cause for smiling in the days of Valley Forge, But the boys that nearly starved there were the boys that licked King George.

And remember, when you fancy things are black as they can be, There's another old George Dewey somewhere yonder on the sea. Keep you jaw set; don't be worried by the rumors that you hear, Don't start flinching with the notion that the end is hovering near. Uncle Sam has seen real trouble, he has had his trial by fire And come forth with aspirations that were holier and higher. Don't forget that in the trenches, when our banner there we plant, Will be found the dauntless spirit of another General Grant.

Let the pessimists and croakers wring their hands and tear their hair, Do your work and keep your courage while they voiced their bleak despair.

There has never been a crisis when this country of the free Didn't nobly rise to meet it; and there's never going to be! This is not a summer picnic that we've happened to get in, It's a war and it's a big one, but we know we're going to win!

2 Automobile Wrecks Near Here Yesterday

Little Daughter of Samuel Mellotte Painfully Hurt

An automobile smashup occurred on the State road opposite the Reed farmhouse just above Reedsville last evening at 6:10 o'clock which resulted in the death of a little child of Samuel Mellotte, who was quite painfully cut and bruised.

Mr. Mellotte was driving up the river in a Ford truck of the Penn Public Service company and was accompanied by his two little children. Near the Reed farmhouse the car was run into by a car driven by Fred Cameron who was also accompanied by William Kline. The Mellotte car was overturned and the occupants spilled out into the road. His little daughter was badly cut about the head and for a time it was feared she had been hurt internally but she was much improved this morning and it was found that her injuries are not serious, but it was a lucky escape for all concerned.

WRECK NEAR BARRETT

A Ford runabout driven by Lloyd Owens, who had Willard Barratt and Abe Jacobson as passengers, toppled over into the ditch along the State road this side of Barrett last night and Messrs Barratt and Jacobson received severe cuts about the hands from the broken windshield. The accident occurred when the lights on the flapper went out and they ran to the side of the road, getting too close to the ditch, when the boys scrambled around to get out to light up again they tilted the machine over into the ditch.

CLEARFIELD GIRL MARRIED

Miss Verna Hills eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hills of South Second street was united in marriage to Harry Briner last evening at seven o'clock in First church of Christ at Akron, Ohio.

Mrs. Briner is a popular school teacher having taught here for several years and has taught in Akron the past three years. Mr. Briner is employed by the Goodrich Rubber Co. They will reside in Akron, Ohio.

K. OF C. GIVE $1,000,000

New Haven, Conn., June 14.—One million dollars has been appropriated by the supreme board of directors of the Knights of Columbus to care for the moral and physical well being of the young American soldiers. Announcement was made here today in an appeal issued to the membership.

NORTHCLIFFE AT WASHINGTON

Washington, June 15.—Lord Northcliffe reached here today and expects soon to call upon diplomatic and military authorities.

PRESIDENT HAS SIGNED THREE BILLION BILL

Money Now Available For Great Army And Shipping Work Already Contracted For

BIG CONTRACTS BEING SIGNED

Washington, June 15.—President Wilson today signed the gigantic three billion dollar war budget bill. Money is now immediately available for the great army and shipping work. Soldiers and sailors may not be paid for the time spent in training. Contracts made out to large concerns may now be signed.

Signing of the bill by the President started the greatest single series of contract signing in the world's history. For weeks contracts were made throughout the country for shoes, uniforms, lumber and all other equipment immediately needed by the government for its new army and the enlarged naval establishment awaiting for the momentous time when the President would pen his name to this measure. These contracts could not be signed until the President signed the bill.

HOSPITAL BRIDGE

Mrs. John Wrigley entertained three tables of bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on Front street for the benefit of the hospital. This was one of the series of bridges that are being given for the hospital. There was eleven dollars taken in. A donation having been given. Mrs. A. E. Patton of Curwensville, held high score.

PITTSBURG OVER-SUBSCRIBES

Pittsburg, June 15.—Subscriptions to the Liberty Loan will total $80,500,000 it was announced shortly after noon today. The allotment was $69,000,000.

AMNESTY FOR IRISH

London, June 15.—General amnesty for Irish prisoners was announced in the House of Commons by Chancellor of the Exchequer Bonar Law today. The prisoners chiefly considered are those taken in the Dublin riot and Sinn Fein riot of last year.

DENVER AHEAD

Denver, June 15.—Denver subscriptions to the Liberty Loan will exceed $12,500,000 it was announced. It is two and a half million over the allotment.

Washington, June 14.—Over subscription to the two billion loan is assured. Telegrams received here from Federal Reserve banks today show that millions have been subscribed over the two billion.

The over subscription, according to Robert W. Woolley, director of publicity for the loan "probably would reach millions of dollars." Telegrams which poured into the Liberty Loan bureau just before noon today were eloquent in their claims. These messages from New York, Richmond, Baltimore, and other federal reserve districts pictured glowing long lines of persons standing before bank windows in every big city of the country awaiting anxiously the chance to do their bit in driving the gold nail in autocracy's coffin.

Washington, June 15.—The average subscription officials told the United Press today amounted to $1,000. The largest average amount to a subscription in the warping countries in Europe was less than $900. Secretary McAdoo announced that no over subscriptions will be accepted in this loan.

Cowards Or Slackers Are Not Wanted Here

Judge Bell Has Old-Fashioned American Ideas As to Citizenship

Judge Singleton Bell has the old-fashioned Yankee idea that American citizenship is a thing to be prized and not one to be handed out in a hurry to every opportunity seeking alien who comes to this glorious country and after taking advantage of its liberties and opportunities without endeavoring to qualify himself for or take on the duties of citizenship, until such time as circumstances really force him to do it.

Judge Bell's position in this matter was made clear to a number of aliens in the court room this morning when about one hundred prospective citizens were applying for the second or final naturalization papers. Every application is being looked into and each applicant carefully examined by a representative of the department of commerce and labor at Washington and after he is through with that ordeal the would-be citizen is forced to go through a proper grilling at the hands of Judge Bell, and if his record and answers are satisfactory the coveted papers are awarded and if not the alien is bowled over into the discard.

The Court has no time for cowards or slackers of any description and when a French reservist, who had been living in this country more than twelve years, and did not make application for his first papers until 1914, after the war in Europe started, came up for his citizenship papers Judge Bell explained his position as above stated in no uncertain language, and ended by continuing the application six months for investigation, saying if this man only sought citizenship here to escape his responsibility to the land of his birth, we did not want him and time was needed to determine that fact.

Another healthy ruling Judge Bell made in this connection was when he informed the assemblage that if the registration card of any man between the ages of 21 and 31 showed the applicant had asked for exemption from war service in case he was drafted under the conscription act, he would be refused citizenship forthwith, that what this country wanted in its citizenship was men, not cowards or slackers.

During the morning session a number of such applicants were examined but in each case when the registration card was produced the applicant was found to be willing to assume the final duties and responsibilities of American citizenship and had answered "no" when asked by the registrar whether he claimed exemption from service in the army if called.

Philip Sarouy, William Weaver and Joseph Nachman, were a bunch of good fellows from Morrisdale who had business at the court house today. While here they dropped into The Progress office for a friendly chat. Come again.

GOVERNOR HANLY A CONVINCING SPEAKER

Exceptionally Large Audience Hears Message Of the Great Western Prohibitionist

REMARKS HEARTILY APPLAUDED

Hon. J. Frank Hanly, former Governor of Indiana and probably the foremost and most forceful advocate of the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic before the American people today, presented the myriad evils of the rum traffic to a large and enthusiastic audience of Clearfield people at the new High school auditorium last evening.

Governor Hanly is the real organizer of the famous Flying Squadron Foundation, which has taken such a large part in the fight to make this great American nation sober. Always a clean living, temperate man himself, Governor Hanly came in close personal contact with the real evils of the liquor traffic when as chief executive of the great middle-western commonwealth he visited the jails, reformatories, penitentiaries, insane asylums and other havens for wrecked and warped humanity in his state and endeavored to get firsthand from these hundreds of human derelicts the actual history of their lives and the reasons for their being in the condition he found them.

According to the burning eloquence of this modern crusader, in about 85 per cent. of the cases investigated the answer was the same: "Rum did it." At the end of his term of office he had become so filled up with the damning influences of the beverage liquor traffic, as he styles it, that he decided then and there to devote the balance of his life to combating the Demon Rum. How well he has succeeded is attested to by the glorious roster of twenty-six out of the forty-eight states of the union "bone dry."

The Flying Squadron Foundation, that force for good, the very mention of which causes old John Barleycorn to back up in the darkest corner of his vilest den and shake as with the palsy of his most besotted victims, is the creature of Governor Hanly's brain, and as an evidence of his breadth of vision and the wisdom of his building, it stands today as the greatest and most far-reaching force marshaled in opposition to the rum traffic and its nefarious supporters and defenders.

Governor Hanly is the 42 centimeter gun of the Flying Squadron and while he himself has traveled into every state in the Union and made his fight against rum every large city and hundreds of these malar towns in every state, his efforts are supplemented by the hundreds of other workers and speakers sent to the battle front wherever and whenever their services were needed by this inspired organization.

At last night's meeting Governor Hanly was introduced by President H. B. Powell of the County National bank, who prefaced his introductory speech with a brief recital of his personal experiences and investigation in the western dry country.

In opening his address Governor Hanly told of his experience with a friend of the rum traffic in Pittsburgh a few short months ago in which the Pittsburgh man asked him if his State of Indiana was "dry," and when the Governor replied that he was sorry, it was not, then the Pittsburgher told him he thought he would be entitled to more credit were he to go home and devote his energies to cleaning up his own state and get that done before coming into Pennsylvania to interfere with our "personal liberties." The Governor said he took that advice to heart, went back to Indiana and as the good old Hoosier state had voted dry last year he felt he had discharged the implied obligation and was entitled to come back to Pennsylvania, and here he was.

The Governor talked for more than one hour and thirty minutes and held the close and undivided attention of his hearers from his opening sentence clear through to the end. He paid a great deal of attention to the perilous situation in which the country is placed just now and emphasized the need for sober men to uphold the honor of our country and our flag. He also made a plea for the prohibition of the manufacture of intoxicating beverages as a means of food conservation.

He asked for the absolute divorcing of the nation from the rum business now and for all time and said he proposed to continue his fight for this to be desired condition as long as the good God gave him strength to do so. He complimented our forefathers on their foresight and wise judgment in drafting the Declaration of Independence and said that while they wrote into the document that all men were created free and equal they allowed a race to live under it in the bonds of slavery, and that for this sowing of the wind we reaped the whirlwind of the Civil war, also that by licensing the liquor traffic the government sowed a wind which is being reaped in the victims of the traffic who inhabit our jails, penitentiaries and mad houses. He also said that he had helped his government harvest the whirlwind of slavery during four years on the battle fields of the Civil war and he would continue in the fight against the liquor business until the harvest of thirty-six dry states made it possible for a constitutional majority of all the states and people to wipe it out of existence.

Governor Hanly is a forceful orator and the sharp-pointed shafts of his logic were equipped with the barbs of common sense reasoning which caused them to stick where they landed.

Following his address Governor Hanly made a plea for financial support for the Flying Squadron Foundation for the fight to be waged in New Mexico and the other states which vote on the liquor question in the near future. He spoke of the big corruption funds gathered by the liquor people and said that money from Pennsylvania brewers had fought and maligned him in every state in the union and asked for contributions for the dry cause at this time that the ten necessary states might be secured to make prohibition nation-wide and thus save Pennsylvania from the outside. A generous contribution was the result.

Following this Governor Hanly asked the audience to authorize him to send telegrams to President Wilson and Congress urging prohibition during the war and the audience gave him the authorization by a rising vote.

MARKET STREET PUPILS MAKE GOOD RECORD

Twenty-Eight Youngsters Make Perfect Mark In Attendance For The Entire Term

TEN PERFECT IN ONE GRADE

Yesterday was the last day of school and according to the records of the Market street schools as compiled by Principal J. H. Farren twenty-eight pupils attended every day of the term. They are as follows:

- Grade 1—Bernie Dunlap.
- Grade 2 and 3—Clarence Edmiston, Beatrice Dunlap, Beatrice Goodman.
- Grade 3—Paul Rishel.
- Grade 4—Charlotte Butler, Marilla Edmiston, Dan Connelly, Harvey Dunlap, Jack Kline, Robert McCleod, Fred Sheeder.
- Grade 5—Florence Jay.
- Grade 5 and 6—Harry Dunlap, Carl Mann, Margaret Keith, Louise Sheeder, Margaret Shapiro.
- Grade 6—Edwin Howard, Samuel Sansone, Charles Meise, Herbert Hills, Stanley Rishel, Maxine DeHaas, Helen Bain, Lois Pooler, Marian Hills, Euphemia Hodgen.

that time Michael was obeying orders, drilling, campaigning, and doing the hundred-and-one things that fall to the lot of the American Marine.

Michael finished his time, retiring with the rank of "Sergeant Major, no less," and went back to that Irish spot in County Mayo.

Then came our participation in the war. Did Michael stay retired? No, he did not! He came right back on the S. S. St. Louis, paying his own fare, and went directly to the U. S. Marine Corps Headquarters to volunteer his services.

McNamara could have signed up with some Irish regiment for, despite his fifty-five years, he is still a "foine broth ar a boy." Instead, he braved the submarines to fight under the flag that for thirty years he had called his own.

Michael has a bit of the stuff of which loyal Americans and heroes are made.

Smelter in Mint Was too Busy Making Silver Dollars to Guard Health.

"I guess I was too busy making silver dollars for Uncle Sam to watch my health," said H. B. Thomas, of 2345 Nicholas street, Philadelphia, a smelter in the United States Mint, recently.

"I have been an athlete for a good many years, playing football, basketball and baseball," he continued, "and I thought I was as immune as a fellow could get from a breakdown."

"I didn't think much about my health. As a result I became nervous and all run-down."

"I grew tired at the least exertion and I realized I had lost some of my strength and buoyancy. I began to feel a kind of pulled myself through the day."

"I knew I needed a good tonic and builder, so when a friend told me about the way this Tanlac helped him, I decided to try it myself. I began using Tanlac and am now taking it."

"I feel better in every way. I sleep well and feel rested and ready for work in the morning. I cut out my food seems to thoroughly agree with me. That first kind of a feeling has disappeared, and I feel as good and as bright as a brand new silver dollar."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine is now sold here by Woodward & McPherson.

NEW VIEW OF GENERAL PETAIN

Here is another view of General Petain, under whom, or with whom, General Pershing, commander of the American Army in France, will fight the Germans. General Petain, the hero of Verdun, is now leader of all the French armies, and is looked on as the military genius of France.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns leaves behind a certain amount of incalculable material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left over waste, toxins and poisonous-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to look inside. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject. Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb the particles into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Dr. I. S. Flegal, of Karlsruhe, was a Clearfield visitor today.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF CHAUTAUQUA

By JOHN MASON WELLS.

The Chautauqua movement has a most interesting history. It began in 1874 at the beautiful spot in western New York which had given the movement its name. Chautauqua, with its lake of spring water and its beautiful grove, made an ideal birthplace for this movement. The first Chautauqua meeting was an out of doors Sunday school institute. Sunday school teachers and workers met here under the direction of Dr. John H. Vincent to study how to better do their work. They listened to lectures, met in conference, had Bible drills, with the one point of view—how to make better the Sunday school. Connected with their work were entertaining and recreative features.

The combination appealed to the people—the out of door setting and the blending of education and entertainment. Many desired to come to such an assembly who were not primarily interested in the Sunday school. Teachers in public and private schools desired to go to such a place for the change, for the contact with other teachers, for rest, but chiefly for inspiration and instruction that would help them in their work. The Chautauqua program was therefore broadened to include geology, botany, astronomy, literature and kindred subjects. In this broader plan the Chautauqua grew in popularity and influence.

Another need now presented itself. Chautauqua is located in New York state, and comparatively few people can go there for this help. Some way must be found of taking the Chautauqua to the people. This was done by gathering helpful literature into convenient literary form, and the Chautauqua reading course was inaugurated. These prescribed courses were eagerly taken, and many mothers have made their homes into universities. If we they can use a little time each day to familiarize themselves with facts that will help them. Credit is given for books read and people in all walks of life have availed themselves of this help. Leaflets can be secured from Chautauqua, N. Y., telling more in regard to these reading circles.

The printed page, however, lacks the charm and inspiration of the spoken word, and the entertainment feature is almost entirely left out. Soon a most wonderful way was found to remedy this difficulty. Chautauqua is not merely a lake and grove at which people can assemble for instruction, entertainment and inspiration. It is not merely this plus a course of reading. It is a movement, and a movement ought to be able to move. There resulted, therefore, this movable university, which will take up its temporary residence in more than 3,000 places this year. Canvas temples like these, where laughter mingles with serious thought and profound meditation unites with great joy, will be erected in every state in the Union.

Until 1912 the Chautauqua tents could be seen only in the western states. The man who started the movement in the east is the head of one of the departments in Swarthmore college. He has had valuable experience in Chautauqua work in the west and is a young man of vision and energy—Paul M. Pearson. Three cardinal principles have been faithfully followed by him. First, this Chautauqua as such must be entirely divorced of commercialism. It is a "no profit" movement. It must pay its way, but it is not run for money. It remains true to the high Chautauqua ideals. If this year it should more than pay expenses the surplus will be used to enrich and improve the program for next year. This makes possible a program each year superior to that of the previous year.

The second principle is that each year's program must not be a mere collection of talent. It must have unity and a definite aim. It has a message. It aims to do something for each community. That it has accomplished this aim can be shown by pointing to the civic and educational progress in many towns where it has come for the past few years.

One of the men who have had the Chautauqua ever since the Pennsylvania association was organized is Kenneth Square, Pa. This borough has a population of about 2,500 people. During this same period it has had an important civic, social and educational development.

In the first place, the churches have been drawn more and more closely together, co-operating in many important matters and basing to a large degree the sectarian, better-than-thou spirit. This is illustrated by the community meetings, which are held every Sunday night, except a few weeks in the summer, in the firemen's auditorium. These meetings have been a distinct success. When they were begun in 1913 there were two churches holding evening meetings, and the average audience of both together numbered less than 100. The audience of these community meetings have rarely been less than 500, and they have reached as high as 700. People that never went to church have come to these meetings, and out of speakers have been drawn who would have been unwilling to speak to the audience that could have been gathered into one of the churches. The good that has come from these meetings to individuals and to the community as a whole can never be fully known.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 15, 1917

There is no good reason for the necessity of men like J. Frank Hanly, a former governor of the great state of Indiana, giving his entire time to the preaching of facts about the liquor traffic. All he contends is admitted. All he preaches is simply a repetition of what we know to be true. Men of affairs know the whole system to be wrong but they have become so much a part of it that they are not morally strong enough to revolt and experience a new order of things. The liquor traffic is tolerated only because of men's cowardice in throwing off the shackles of practice.

If the United States Government can pass a law requiring every man between twenty-one and thirty-one years of age to register and place himself in line for cannon fodder and get a response that can be called unanimous, then how in the name of common sense can any intelligent man argue that a prohibition law will not prohibit? The very fact that he argues that way is, in the first place, evidence of his own weak regard for the law and, in the second place, an acknowledgement that the strength of liquor is greater than the law. Any patriot will know which to support.

It is doubtful if any ruler ever had such united support in the early days of a war as President Wilson has at this moment. Not two weeks ago, ten million men of all parties and all classes registered for military services in compliance with his wish and desire. Took the step without a murmur or a grumble. Today we see another instance of solidity of nation and steadfastness of purpose. The American people have loaned their government two millions of dollars. Both as to men and money the American people have said "Go to it Woodrow, old top, we're with you to the last trench." The American people would have done the same thing two years ago and probably had it over with by this time. Our President was a little slow in action. There is nothing now to hold him back.

UPPERCUT NO. 2

On the fifth of this month the United States handed Germany a silent warning in the form of ten million men of military age. Like Ivory Soap, long advertised as 99 and 44-100 pure, Americans proved themselves at least 99 and 44-100 patriotic by peacefully obeying the mandates of the law on June 5th last. It was the first uppercut handed Germany by the United States. As though that were not enough she comes back today with a big successful termination of the Liberty Loan and the huge sum of two billions of dollars of our wealth is now available for purposes of warfare against Germany. Upper-cut No. 2. But we are going to do more. General Pershing has landed in France and is completing arrangements for the bed and board of thousands of khaki clad American youths who can shoot straight, think clear and live clean. Our wealth of men is almost inexhaustible. We not only loan our money, we give our men and now, best of all, we are going to take care of those men after they land in France. How? Why, by supporting the American Red Cross Society. Our strongest point will be in properly looking after personal comforts. Red Cross Week starts next Monday and lasts one week.

Stop Waste---Save

Thrift is an essential part of every patriot's duty.

Europe after two years of agony learned to abstain from luxuries to economize in comforts, to be frugal of necessities.

Let us profit by that example.

Preparedness by means of economy and saving is the vital and moral duty of every right-thinking American NOW.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

ABOUT THREE BROTHERS

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales]

DADDY and the children sat down on the sofa to begin the bedtime story with: "Two king's sons once upon a time went out into the world to seek their fortunes. They soon fell into wasteful ways of living and could not return home again."

"Then their younger brother, a tiny little dwarf, went out into the world to try to find his two brothers and bring them home. But when he found them they only laughed at him. It amused them greatly to think that such a little fellow should go out into the world where they who were so much stronger had failed to get on."

"However, they all set out together and soon they came to an ant hill. The two older brothers wanted to pull it down in order to see the poor ants scurry around and carry off their eggs to safety. But the dwarf said: 'Let the poor things enjoy themselves. I will not have you bother them.'"

"So on the three boys went and at last they came to a lake where many ducks were swimming about. The two brothers wanted to catch two ducks and roast them for their dinner. But the dwarf said: 'Let the poor things enjoy themselves. You shall not kill them.'"

Then Evelyn clapped. "Next they came to a bees' nest in the hollow of an old tree. There was so much honey that it ran down the tree trunk. The two bigger boys wanted to build a fire under the tree and kill the bees so that they could get the honey. But the dwarf said: 'Let the pretty things enjoy life. I cannot let you burn them.'"

"At length the three brothers came to a castle and as they passed by the stables they saw some fine horses standing there. But the strange thing about them was that they were marble, and no man was seen around the stable."

"The three boys went through all the rooms till they came to a door which had three locks on it. But in the middle of the door was a wicket so that they could look into the next room. There they saw a little old gray man sitting on a table. They called to him, but he did not hear. At last he heard and arose to come to them. Not a word did he say. But he let the boys in and led them to a table where all sorts of good things were laid out. And when they had eaten and drunk the little old man showed each of the boys a bedchamber where they could rest," daddy ended.

"Did they sleep?" asked Jack. "Yes, indeed," answered daddy. Then the children ran off to sleep.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's note—The following communication will no doubt be entirely and satisfactorily explained in an early issue. We invite the school authorities to answer the several queries. We may venture to suggest that there are small expenses in the way of programs, music and speaker's expenses to be met.

We are justly proud of our new high school building. We are proud of the quality and quantity of our graduating class. We do not begrudge one cent of the money we pay yearly in taxation toward the betterment of facilities for the education of our boys and girls. But we do have an interrogation to put up to the superintendent of our schools.

Why, after the citizens of the town have freely given to provide the efficient building, why should they be required to pay an admission to see the graduation exercises. When we held our exercises in the Opera House we saw the necessity of the fee and paid it gladly. We fail to see the necessity now. If it was to restrict the crowd, the empty seats Wednesday evening told the result. Many a citizen remained away from the exercises because he resented the principle of paying an admission. If the motive be to bar children then why not have tickets printed for free distribution? Why the form of sending an invitation which is not an invitation? What becomes of the money thus secured? These are the questions the citizens are asking. In the course of our travels we have seen the management of many public schools but we have yet to find the place where the townspeople must pay to see their pupils graduate.

A Citizen and Taxpayer.

MORE HOBOS WANTED

Constable Reilly and Officer Eadie rounded up a pair of hobos in the First ward Tuesday afternoon and haled them before "Judge" Milligan, who very promptly soaked them with a 30 day jail sentence.

As per the terms of Judge Bell's recent vagrant order the hobos will be marshaled into Constable Barger's squad and made to work out their sentence on the streets of the borough.

"GOLDINE"

The Marvel Herb Medicine Now Being Used By Millions Of People In The United States

It is Conservatively Estimated That Over Five Million People In This Country Alone are Taking Goldine

This vast army of people says Goldine gives the weak and run down that great vim, energy and endurance so entirely by the weakening. Its widespread use should bring about the most startling results everywhere. The pale, anemic, nervous people now seen at every turn shuffling listlessly along the streets should become sturdy, alert men and women of snappy stride, brimming over with vim and vitality.

If people would only take Goldine Nerve Tonic when they feel weak or rundown, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages, I am convinced that in this way they could ward off disease preventing it becoming organic in thousands of cases and thereby the lives of thousands might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, liver, heart, trouble and other dangerous maladies. The Goldine remedies are now being demonstrated at Stewart's Drug Store.

Stop in and have a chat with the Goldine man. It won't cost you any-

AMERICAN MEDICAL CORPS STIRS GREAT BRITAIN

Captain A. D. Tuttle

The appearance in Great Britain of the American Medical unit, of which Dr. George W. Crile, the great Cleveland surgeon and author, and Captain A. D. Tuttle, were the leaders, has stirred Great Britain. Their arrival at Blackpool caused the population to turn out for a holiday. Dr. Crile, who had already seen a year or more of service with the French, is known in Great Britain as well as in the United States. After his return from the front he published, "Man—An Adaptive Mechanism," which has been declared the greatest work of science ever written by an American. Captain Tuttle is a regular army man who will act as adjutant for the corps.

TODAY'S WAR RECIPE

From Britain's Official Win-The-War Cook-Book
* Manchester Pudding (for four people)—One tencupful of maize meal, two eggs, one dessertspoonful of margarine, two breakfastcupfuls of milk, sugar or syrup to taste, jam or marmalade.
* Bring the milk to the boil, sprinkle in the meal very gradually, stirring all the time, and cook over the fire until the mixture thickens. Let it simmer for about half an hour. Beat the yolks and white of the eggs separately.
* Take the cooked maize meal from the fire, then stir in the fat, the yolks of eggs, and enough sugar to sweeten slightly, put in a moderate oven, in a greased pie-dish and bake for fifteen to twenty minutes. Spread the jam over the top of the pudding, and cover with stiffly whipped white of egg.
* Replace in the oven until the egg is slightly tinged with brown.

Snake Oil

Will Positively Relieve Pain In Three Minutes.

Try it right now for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, sprains, stiff and swollen joints, pains in the head, back and limbs, corns, bunions, etc. After one application pain disappears as if by magic.
A new remedy used internally and externally for Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all kinds of throat troubles.
This oil is conceded to be the most penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops on the thickest piece of sole leather and it will penetrate the entire thickness in three minutes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 10 A LIVE ONE

Held Twenty-First Annual Convention June 8th, And Heard Encouraging Reports

N. E. SHIMMEL NEW PRESIDENT

Osceola Mills, June 15.— The 21st annual session of the 10th District Sunday school convention held at the Ohio, U. B. church on Friday was largely attended notwithstanding the threatening weather.

The morning session opened with a devotional service conducted by Rev. H. K. Bower, of Phillipsburg. Rev. F. E. Hartman of Wallaceton, in a happy manner welcomed the visitors and N. E. Shimmel of Blueball responded.

The following committees were appointed. On nominations, John W. Wilson, Rev. I. W. Groh, and Rev. H. K. Bower. On resolutions, Rev. F. E. Hartman, Rev. S. T. Lewis and W. H. Goss.

Rev. M. M. Snyder of Mahaffey the county field worker addressed the convention urging greater efficiency in all departments. Miss Letitia Woodside of Wallaceton presented a very well prepared paper on "The Preparation of the Lesson."

The afternoon session was opened with a prayer and praise service conducted by Rev. S. T. Lewis, of Osceola.

"How to promote Temperance Discussion in the Sunday School" was the subject presented by Rev. I. W. Groh of Woodland.

Rev. F. G. Hartman emphasized the importance of "True Evangelism in the Sunday school."

Rev. M. M. Snyder addressed the convention on "True Evangelism in the Sunday school."

"Loyalty in the Sunday School" stirred the large audience to a sense of their duty at the present time and was ably presented by Rev. S. T. Lewis. Master Albert Shimmel of Blueball delivered a recitation entitled "Your Flag and My Flag" which was received with applause.

"The Responsibility of the Parent to the Sunday school" was the subject of an able address by Rev. H. K. Bower of Phillipsburg.

The nominating committee recommended that the officers of the preceding year be reelected. They are as follows:

President, N. E. Shimmel, Blue Ball.

Vice President, Hugh J. Kline, Blue Ball.

Secretary, Harry W. Brown, Osceola Mills.

Treasurer, Eli A. Hall, Osceola Mills.

Supt. Elementary Dept., Mrs. S. W. McLaren, Osceola Mills.

Supt. Home Dept., Mrs. William Guthrie, Wallaceton.

Supt. Teacher Training, Miss Letitia Woodside, Wallaceton.

Supt. Missionary Dept., Miss Florence Maurer, West Decatur.

Supt. O. A. B. classes, S. W. McLaren, Osceola Mills.

Supt. Teen Age Classes, W. H. Goss, Osceola Mills.

Supt. Rural dept., Prof. J. E. Radbach, Osceola Mills.

Rev. Gordon A. Williams, of Osceola, conducted a "Round Table Discussion" which proved very helpful. Many good points were brought out.

The officers of the district were authorized to send to President Wilson and our members of congress a resolution urging them to grant us National prohibition of the manufacture, sale, importation and exportation of all intoxicating liquors as a war measure.

W. H. Goss, of Osceola, conducted the prayer and praise service at the evening session.

Rev. Gordon A. Williams addressed the convention on the "Teen Age Problem." He urged his hearers to keep the standard up.

Rev. M. M. Snyder the field worker then delivered the closing address of the convention taking as his subject "More Fruit." It contained many helpful suggestions.

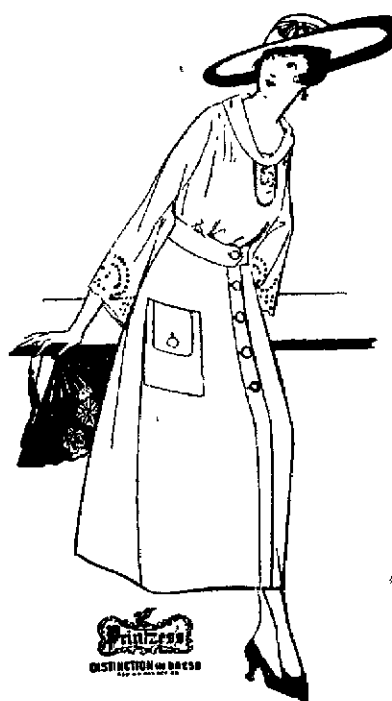

The committee on resolutions presented their report which was adopted.

The secretary reported a gain in membership in the district of 24. The contributions from the schools is $41.65, from the offerings at the convention $11.66, making a total of $53.31.

Invitations for the 1918 convention were received from Center M. E. and Pleasant Hill Baptist schools. The last named was selected as the place for the next convention. June 14th 1918.

With the singing of the Doxology and the benediction by Rev. M. M. Snyder closed one of the most successful conventions held in this district.

MOTOR

To the Women of Clearfield:

You particularly are invited to attend this Motion Picture demonstration of Automobile Motor Construction.

Every woman and every girl in Clearfield is interested in motor cars—you are as much interested as are the men—you know that the mechanism of the modern automobile is simple. But do you know why it is simple? Are you familiar with what goes on underneath the hood when you throw in the clutch and press your foot on the starting pedal?

These pictures will make all these facts clear to you. Secure your admission card on request.

Just Enough Heat No More--No Less

This Brings Its Message of Comfort Along With An Appeal of Economy

With one of these oil ranges there's no three or four hundred pounds of heat-charged metal throwing out its waves of heat. Just a little flame, confined by the type of burner, to a small space; plenty without an surplus.

KEROGAS OIL RANGES

The burner transforms common kerosene oil into a high heating vapor. This sounds the note of economy as these same burners burn four hundred gallons of air to one gallon of oil.

There's no danger from explosions—the method of conducting the oil from the tank to the burners does away with any and all chance for that.

Interested? Come in and let us demonstrate how much easier your summer cooking, especially the hot work of canning, can be done on one of these new ranges.

ON THE SCREEN

MARGUERITE CLARK BEWITCHING AS "THE PRETTY SISTER OF JOSE"

Special at the Globe Theatre Today

The winsome little star of the Famous Players Film company, Marguerite Clark, who within a phenomenally short time has sprung into international fame as a film favorite, is a revelation in her latest screen appearance in the Famous Players five part production of Frances Hodgson Burnett's picturesque romance of old Spain, "The Pretty Sister of Jose" which is now the chief attraction on the Paramount program at the Globe.

In this superb production Miss Clark triumphs as she has never triumphed on the screen before. This fact is true not only because her role provides her with many emotional opportunities, but because of her display of force and temperament in its portrayal. In addition to the moments of stress throughout the drama which she enacts so effectively we see her early charm, her delightful little girlish mannerisms, those exquisite little bits of comedy which she presents so inimitably, combined with a gentle pathos all developed artistically and with composite charm.

"THE PRICE OF SILENCE"

Coming to the Tent on Saturday is the Bluebird feature, "The Price of Silence" is Dorothy Phillips, one of the most beautiful and talented of screen stars. Three years in the Savage productions, "Mary Jane's Pa" and "Everywoman" followed, and she created the title role in the New York production "Pilate's Daughter." For one season she played opposite Francis X. Bushman at the Elsanay Company, and two years ago became a member of the Universal company.

In "The Price of Silence" this talented actress has the best role she ever played—a part most exacting in high emotional world, while calling, as well, for adaptability in comedy and lighter shading of screen artistry.

The production was made from W. Carey Wonderly's magazine story, of the same title, by Ida May Park, Frank Whitson, Lon Chaney, Jack Mulhall, Jay Belasco, Vola Smith and Evelyn Selbie will be principals in the supporting organization.
